The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev Roland M. Lord, pastor of the North Paris Church. The soloist was Miss Jean Carlini, who sang, "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me."

The bride's gown of white nylon lace and net over satin was fashioned with net yoke, lace sleeves, fitted lace bodice and full skirt of net over satin with lace panels. She carried white Bible and roses.

How Goes Niagara?

The five big private electric companies that supply nearly all the homes, businesses and industries in New York State are doing what the economic planners in this country said couldn't be done. They are proposing to build a giant $300,000,000 power producing project on the Niagara River using water from three miles above the mighty falls. Financing it with their own money! The economic planners, whose goal has been the socialization of the entire U.S. electric power industry, have conceded the federal government must build the big power projects because private companies do not have the necessary financial resources.

It is true that no single private company can match the federal government's ability to spend multi-million-dollar amounts collected from the taxpayers. But groups of private companies operating in a single state or region can finance any feasible project. And that is what they are proposing to do at Niagara. Some of the "Public Power" segments in Congress nevertheless want the government, and not private enterprise, to build and own and operate the proposed new Niagara power plant. The issue, therefore, is a clear-cut choice between government and private ownership.

Taxes and Taxes

Government ownership would mean the spending of $200,000,000 and probably a great deal more of the taxpayers' money. Government construction costs and operating costs are notoriously high. Usually a project estimated by government people to cost $100,000,000 actually costs about twice that amount before the U.S. Treasury gets through paying the bills. With the government doing it, the Niagara project likely would cost government half a billion. And once in operation, it wouldn't be a tax-payer like the private company.

If the private companies are permitted to build it, the hundreds of millions paid by taxpayers will be available for other heavy expenses of government. And when fully completed the Niagara project, if owned by the private enterprisers, would pay an estimated $25,000,000 in new tax money each year.

Private Enterprise

Other private companies recently have combined to finance developments which the "Public Power" proponents said couldn't be done by private enterprise. Five private companies in the Pacifica, N.Y., area pooled resources to build a giant 200,000 kw steam plant to serve a new atomic arsenal now under construction; and approximately 20 companies in the Ohio Valley joined forces to build a power project to serve another huge atomic plant. In both instances, the Public Power advocates had said the job was "too big for private enterprise."

Niagara is a spectacular challenge to American industrial ingenuity. In 1935 a private company, the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., planned water power development when it installed the Adams station just above the falls. Later other stations were built. These utilized all the water for power purchased under an agreement with Canada. In 1935 a new agreement permitted use of additional water above the falls. Thus the power production can now be raised from 40,000 to 120,000 megawatts.

Safety and Safety

The private companies operating at Niagara over the years have developed, through practical experimentation, a method of tunneling the water from the river above the falls to generate enough additional power downstream. The operation will not affect the forces which control the coal mines and water sites, also on my desk to the publication of the "Public Ownership League." It dedicates the League to achieving a "public power system for the commonalty." The United States and Canada." The Socialist League.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

MILTON M. DONAHUE, 219 West Walnut Street, Tipp City, Ohio, at an early age was taught by his parents to kneel at the side of his bed at night and pray.

As a youngster about five years old, he began to make visits to an aunt and uncle's home in Springfield, Ohio. While visiting there, he slept with their youngest son Mike who was older than he. At night when saying his prayers, Mike would ridicule him—poke fun at him. Many times during their lives, even after reaching manhood, this was still a great joke with Mike.

But Mike went into the army. In 1945 just after the Battle of the Bulge his aunt received a letter from him which Milton read. One paragraph ran as follows: "Mom, the other night a strange thing happened. As you know during the major campaigns I have been in I have been scared almost to death. This particular night we were attacked and shelled unmercifully. One large shell hit very close to our shell crater dug-out. The next thing I knew I was on top of the ground, on my knees praying to God. Prayers that I did not think were in me. Mom, I was not praying to be saved from dying or from injury but to be forgiven for the many wrongs I have done. Be sure to tell Irish (meaning Milton) about this and he will know what I mean."

Mike, lacking sentiment, always signed previous letters just "Bye Mom." This letter was signed, "Bye Mom, God bless you and pray for us."

This experience of Mike's makes us all realize that to conquer worry or to accomplish almost anything in life we have to have faith; faith in ourselves, and most of all, faith in a Merciful God.

Economic Highlights . . .

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

Things are changing, gradually but surely, in Washington today. That old source of apparently endless manna, the U.S. Treasury, is taking on a new look.

U.S. News and World Report opened a feature article on what is happening with these words, "Getting something for nothing out of the government isn't as easy as it once was."

"The change will be hitting home before long. It will mean fewer services of many kinds, less federal money for hospitals, power, Army bases, airports.

"Effects will be felt by farmers, businessmen, politicians, workers to earn what he gets and gets what he earns.

"The building of a park or the paving of a street becomes a personal thing in which the majority of folks see a tangible part of themselves. The yardstick is not off in degrees that ask 'What is there in it for me?'

"A stranger becomes the focus of honest curiosity and the returning native always seems to have added a little glamor. The deeds of the town and its men often shine brighter in a far away place. The words of a stranger often seem like important words.

"A small town is where the lack of convention allows for more time to live well and think clearly. The veneer of fentious arguments in a small shell which comes closer to allowing thought. The problems of the people are concerned with nature and close association with others—with things as they are."

"Weather: The service will be continued as now, but 100 stations will be closed.

Housing: The program will be cut back substantially.

Research: The government will be less active in this field, will spend less money.

Air Travel: Expansion of government-built facilities and aids to air travel will slow. There is strong sentiment for charging the commercial airlines for the use of these facilities. Cities and towns will have small chance to obtain federal funds for building new airports.

Commercial Services: There will be a reduction in the technical, information and census services for business organizations.

The point is that the current economy drive is all-inclusive, regardless of what groups it affects.

It is not based on the idea of economy for the few—it is based on the idea of economy for all. It will be resisted, and strongly, by individuals and organizations which have long been used to getting "free" federal funds. The heat will be turned on Congress to keep money flowing out. However, U.S. News observes, "This time, though, the men in Congress are in a mood to cut back. Change is on its way."

That change, of course, is being forced by the fact that our fiscal set-up is in about as bad a shape as anyone can imagine. The new administration knew it would be a mighty tough problem—and it has turned out to be even tougher than was expected. The time has come when, figuratively speaking, the nickels must be watched no less than the dollars, for the people are demanding tax reduction.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Cameron, Wisc., Barron County Leader: "This newspaper favors a decrease in taxes (which can be effected by cutting the fat from government); an end to all forms of socialism in this republic; an American foreign policy based on common sense rather than dollar diplomacy; and re-dedication to that fundamental American concept, that nation is best governed which is least governed."

Cottageville, Pa., Record: "Despite dire predictions from some prophets of gloom, the lifting of ceilings was not accomplished by skyrocketing prices and an upward churning of the inflationary spiral. The wholesale price level has stayed virtually unchanged and consumer prices are continuing downward."

After, N. M., Independent-Review: "It may be contended that Communism hasn't gotten very far in this country but it hasn't hurt the communist cause to have poor support from the Socialist League."

Party frankly says that government control of power is an essential first step into a Socialist government. The "Public Ownership League" knows this but doesn't say it. Private companies with imagination and courage can thwart the Socialist Party and its companion, the "Public Ownership League." In achieving a "public power system for the commonalty," the United States and Canada." The Socialist League.

On my desk is a campaign handbook of the Socialist Party. Point No. 1 of the platform reads: "Natureization of our natural resources beginning with the coal mines and water sites" also on my desk to the publication of the "Public Ownership League." It dedicates the League to achieving a "public power system for the commonalty," the United States and Canada." The Socialist League.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

To bring our Govt. back home is close to being our prime job. If anybody needs to know the prospects of a good or poor cranberry crop, New England and the Pacific Northwest can do the predicting if there is any good to come from a prediction which if it is like the Weather Bureau, you will catch on to an expensive luxury. If you wear your straw hat when the prediction is for sunshine, you understand.

But cranberries, that is the topic. Congress dives into floors, ceilings, prospects and what not to do or do. And of the 96 senators, 80 of 'em never saw a cranberry bog—but they legislate just as if they were hep. But Govt. has a foot in so many doors and so far from home that it is no wonder Sambo's feet hurt—his nerves are frazzled—and he is in debt to his chin and the water still rising. He has budget nightmares.

Now friends and neighbors, it is time to put a foot own. If we need a new school house, if we want to raise or lower a teacher's salary, we know here in Hickory all about it. Bowing low and asking Big Govt. for alms—taint American-like. Keeping the marines, the army, and the navy in festal is plenty for Mr. Ike. The governors and mayors can do the local stuff. Sambo, that way, could maybe get some sleep.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA

just about everybody, including 60,000,000 taxpayers!

Some of these cuts will involve very large sums of money. Some will involve relatively small sums. But whether the scale be big or little, the pruning is reaching into almost every government office.

U.S. News gave a summary of where cost reductions may be expected. Here are some examples:

Electric Power: Federal activities in this field will be curbed. There about when the Ohio solo said in a recent speech that if negotiations fail in Korea the U.S. should tell England and other Allied nations "we are withdrawing from all further peace negotiations in the United Nations, some observers

This difference could mean a great deal in the future, or it could mean nothing. As the President expressed it, Mr. Taft has every right to form and express his own opinions.

This sharp difference of opinion between the President and the Senator, called the most powerful figure in Washington excepting, of course, the Chief Executive, came about when the Ohio solo said in a recent speech that if negotiations fail in Korea the U.S. should tell England and other Allied nations "we are withdrawing from all further peace negotiations in the United Nations."

Senator Taft added, "I believe in the United Nations myself, but not as an effective means to prevent aggression." He then asserted that the U.S. "might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the East and reserve to ourselves a completely free hand."

World leaders and political observers waited anxiously for the President's reply to these statements. When it came it was blunt. The President asserted he believed in the United Nations and his policy would be to cooperate with the U.N.

Then he landed the most telling point in their difference of opinions. Go it alone in one part of the world, he said, and we will have to go it alone in all parts of the world. The President indicated that if compromise is necessary the best answer to that is the fact that Senator Taft is an honest man. He would not have said he believed in it if he did not. But there are reservations in the extent of his belief. These reservations are not new, but have not been made public by the Senator as often as in the past.

What worries most members of the Republican party is the fact that Senator Taft has a strong mid-western leaning toward isolation. Is it, they are asking, beginning to get the upper hand, again, in the face of a GOP policy of co-operation with our Allies and the undeniable fact that we are living in a smaller world every day?

Washington observers have been cautious in their speculations concerning the Eisenhower-Taft differences. But most of them are agreed that the Senator's statement came at a bad moment, that is, were badly timed as far as Korean true negotiations are concerned.

Here again one can say only time will tell the real effect—whether Taft's statement will have great influence, or none.

pie think the government should past two decades. It has been a popular sport for many and sundry to climb onto the public feed wagon and not even bother about not letting their feet drag."

Scanning the Year

for the good of all, then it will be his policy to compromise.

As stated before this difference of opinions could mean nothing.

However, observers are pointing out that Senator Taft is a powerful figure in GOP policy-making circles.

His statement could mean a rebirth of an Isolation trend that has not been entirely stamped out of some sections of his party. If he wished he could make future policy decision rather difficult, to put it mildly, for the President.

Does Senator Taft believe in the United Nations, some observers asked?

BY AUDREY LANE

EAST BETHEL

— Mrs. David S. Foster, Corres. —
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swan of Dixfield and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith with Tracy Dorey of Interstate were week end guests of Mrs. Ida Blake.

Miss Shirley Bartlett left June 16 for Washington, D. C., as a delegate to the 4-H Clubs.

Poultry and meat leftovers should be stored as quickly after their serving as possible to prevent spoilage. When large enough pieces are available, serve sliced or heat in sauce or gravy.

Small chunks and pieces of meat go well in hearty salads, quick stews, hash or spaghetti dishes.

Leftovers of meat and poultry can be utilized in omelets, stuffed peppers or tomatoes, croquettes, etc. Use a food grinder to get them easily into small pieces.

Bones and small pieces of meat can always be simmered with green or yellow vegetables, potatoes, noodles, beans or rice to make hearty, nourishing soups.

Save your drippings and refrigerate them. They're tasty to use for sauteeing white or sweet potatoes.

Recipe of the Week
Blue Cheese Dressing
(Makes 1 cup)

1 small clove garlic, sliced
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup of lemon juice or vinegar
2 ounces blue cheese
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoons salt

Add onion and garlic to oil; let stand for an hour. Remove from oil and discard garlic. Cream blue cheese to a paste, adding oil gradually, stirring constantly to keep the mixture as smooth as possible. Add remaining ingredients and beat or shake in a tightly covered jar until well blended. Serve on salad greens or vegetable salad.

Ice, tomato or onion slices, apples, eggs, French toast, bananas or fish.

Drippings from ham, sausages or bacon are especially tasty when they're used for seasoning green or lima bean dishes, cooked greens, Spanish rice or scalloped potatoes.

What about leftover rolls? Split, butter and toast them under the broiler. If desired, sprinkle them with celery, caraway or poppy seeds or grated cheese before broiling for a most delicious flavor.

Use a combination of leftover fruits and berries as a topping for a bowl of cereal. Leftover canned cereals are good in this way, too.

The House of Representatives, through a majority of its members, are heavily committed to economy, has found it difficult to decide just where to trim government expenses and has ended by adding $15 million to one departmental appropriation bill.—Christian Science Monitor.

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA
SEEKS LOCAL SUPPORT

Have you ever noticed that when a child's smile appears after a period of sadness, it is like the sun breaking through the clouds after a storm?

Have you ever had that wonderful feeling that comes from helping someone less fortunate than yourself?

From all over the State of Maine come requests from doctors and welfare officers, who ask the Volunteers of America to take needy children to the Pine Point Camp.

Last year, some 450 children enjoyed themselves, many for the first time in their lives, frolicking in the safe playgrounds, splashing in the surf, and basking in the sun. Regular, balanced meals built sturdy bone and muscle. Loving care and wholesome sleep relaxed the children. Under the supervision of dedicated leaders these children learned that they were not alone in the world, they learned to work together and to play together as children should.

It costs $10 per child for a two week period, exclusive of their transportation. The Volunteers of America will need your help if they are to carry on this year.

Won't you help give a chance to needy children from our local area?

The Bethel Malting Company was awarded a round trip to Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Bean was the representative of the Company.

Part of the trip included a tour of the tremendous manufacturing facilities of the Coleman Company in Wichita. In addition, Mr. Bean attended classes at the University of Wichita, where he studied advanced engineering and techniques of heating and air conditioning.

Mr. Bean left via airplane from Portland to New York and from there to Wichita.

Nelson & Small, Inc., of Portland, Maine, and The Coleman Company of Wichita, were co-sponsors of this unusual event.

Major and Mrs. Sidney Dyke, Sylvia and Alan, of Fort Bragg, S. C., are spending three weeks with relatives in town.

Charles Smith is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Smith. He will go to Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., with his company from Amherst College for summer military training.

Maine communities? Won't you help to bring the sun out from behind the clouds and put the smile on the faces of these children who smile so seldom?

Contributions may be given to

D. Grover Brooks, the local treasurer.
